You always get a little nervous when the song Ain't No Stoppin' Us Now is blaring at the NYSE but today it's apropos:):):)

QUESTION? Are we in the later stages of a Feb blowoff which may be followed by a decline going into March and April???

EARNINGS season will be OVER soon. The market may have to confront the Fed Cut Timetable, Valuations and CPI on Tuesday?

This has been a great run especially in the tech sector and 2 way action (puts and calls) in stocks like Apple AAPL has been great.

The giants like NVDA META LLY have soared as well as TSM AMD NVO CMG plus today EMR. The new high list has been lit up big time.

SECTORS Leading are Tech, Semiconductors, Communications, Financials, Health Care, and Industrials have led the way for the last 3 months.

SECTORS that have been lagging are Materials, Energy, Utilities, Real Estate, and to a lesser extent Staples Consumer Discretionary, Transports.

Obviously, the leading sectors have had the stocks with the greatest VOLATILITY to the upside BUT if we broaden out-watch the laggards too.

THREE CONCERNS that may be significant are the Dow Transports (DJTA) & Small Caps (IWM) have NOT made new highs. The VIX is in the 12's.

TOMORROW! I will share my opinions on TIMING the markets, SHORT TERM Options, Trading STRATEGIES, and How to ADJUST Option Strategies You will be able to ASK QUESTIONS in the Chat Box. It's your chance to LEARN about the Uses & Risks & Choices available in the option markets.

Not to Boast....but I have traded thousands of options. I received Advanced Options Training at The Options Institute. Can I help you? I think so.

Go to optionprofessor.com or email me at optionprofessor@gmail.com. I can send you a LINK to my indicators.
